

Editorial

What makes Canadian history: torches and trumpets? or firelight glow and the quiet voice of a mission preacher? How much drama was there in our past, and how much dramatizing should we do in order to catch young readers' interest? The answers, in this special issue of CCL on history and historical fiction, are varied – and unexpected. Critics and reviewers enrich our ideas about what constitutes a Canadian hero (or heroine) and which stories make good bridges to our unique past. Some books considered here were written for children; others have slid from adult shelves onto adolescents' reading lists. Some are reprints, others brand new. All contribute, as we hope this issue will do, to what Professor Donald Swainson calls "the job of taking real history into the intellectual lives of our children."

Criticism

AN INTERVIEW WITH PIERRE BERTON

Jon C. Stott	4
HISTORY, CHILDREN AND PROFESSIONAL SCHOLARS: THE CANADIAN CASE
Donald Swainson	20
CANADIAN HISTORICAL FICTION: A SURVEY
David W. Atkinson	28
HISTOIRE ET NARRATION DANS L'OEUVRE DE MONIQUE CORRIVEAU
François Paré	40
ATLANTIC CANADIAN HISTORICAL FICTION: WHERE IS THE DRAMA?
Patricia E. Johnston	51
FABLE, FICTION, AND FACT: PHILIP CHILD'S THE VILLAGE OF SOULS
Dennis Duffy	59
TALES OF CRUSOES
Sarah Ellis	74

Review-Articles and Reviews

SOME ESSENTIAL REFERENCE BOOKS

Glenys Stow	81
AMERINDIANS IN HISTORY
Olive Patricia Dickason	86
TALL TALE RETOLD
S.D. Neill	89

CO-ÉDITIONS DÉPASSANT LE CADRE CANADIEN
Micheline Persaud	91
HISTORICAL BIOGRAPHY IN NOVA SCOTIA
Robert Nicholas Bérard	93
CANADIAN COLONIAL VIGNETTES
Terence Scully	96
ENTREPRENEURS, POLITICIANS, AND A SLICE OF 19TH CENTURY LIFE
Debra L. Nash-Chambers	99
THEY BUILT CANADA: HISTORICAL BIOGRAPHY FOR CANADIAN CHILDREN
Carla Newbould	102
OLD TOMORROW WITH WARTS AND NOSE
Terry Crowley	106
GAMES AND POLITICS
Sandy Lessner	108
MAKING A SILK PURSE FROM A SOW'S EAR
Martha Leibbrandt	110
NEITHER FISH NOR FOWL: FICTIONALIZED HISTORY FOR CHILDREN
Mickie McClear	113
ONE OF THE FAMILY
Kathleen Grant Jaeger	115
BIOGRAPHERS AND THEIR SUBJECTS
Donald Swainson	119
WOMEN IN CANADIAN POLITICS
Ronnie Kennedy	121
CANADIAN LIVES
Philomena Hauck	124
ENTRE DEUX AGES
Mary Graham	129
IN SEARCH OF THE CANADIAN HERO
Martyn N. Godfrey	133
A PRAIRIE TRADITION
Laurie Ricou	136
FORGOTTEN HEROES OF THE NORTH
Jennifer G. Fisher	139
LANGUAGE AND LETTUCES
P.B. Waite	143
BOOKS REVIEWED IN THIS ISSUE	144

The cover illustration, from Mary Alice Downie's The King's Loon / Un huart pour le roi, is by Ron Berg, and is reproduced courtesy of Kids Can Press.