Glenys Stow, one of the founding editors of Canadian Children's Literature, has moved away from Guelph, and we have reluctantly accepted her decision that she can no longer play an active role in management of CCL. Glenys' new enterprises include teaching extension courses in Children's Literature and the History of the Novel for the University of Western Ontario, and running, with her husband Robin, a farm bed-breakfast and retreat centre at "No-Hurry Farm", R.R. 1, Durham, Ontario.
